Have You Had This Experience?

We had an experience with twine last summer that should be of interest to everybody.

One of our customers had a binder that would not tie. Our trouble man who was called to fix it found the binder missing fully half the bundles, but upon examination he could see nothing wrong with the machinery. The farmer was using some 204-cent twine. It was running uneven.

Our man suggested putting in a ball of Deering Standard twine, which he did, and the binder missed only 2 bundles around an 80-acre field. Then he put the cheap twine in again, with the same result as before—about half of the bundles would be missed. Then he put the Standard back in and only 2 bundles missed around the field.

The result was that the farmer finished his crop with Standard twine. During this test no adjustment of any kind was made to the binder.

(The letter reproduced above refers to twine bought during the summer of 1919, at which time the 204-cent price per lb. was considered low for even cheap twine. The 1920 prices of all twines show material reductions over last year.)

Don't blame your binder for the misdeeds of weak, uneven, cheap twine. You wouldn't expect to get full power out of an automobile if you diluted the gasoline with water, would you? Why then should you expect satisfactory results from a binder in which you use weak, uneven twine.

We Sell It

Take your choice of these two bales—same amount of twine in each, but due to new way of baling, the bale at the left has 6 bolls while the old style bale at the right has 10 bolls. The new bale enables you to carry 50% more twine in the binder twine can than is possible with the smaller bale; bale takes up two-fifths less hauling and storage space than large bale. 48 lbs. of twine, net, in both bales.

AGNES NEUDORFF TO GIVE CONCERT HERE

Soprano to Be Heard at Lyceum Theatre Night of June 24.

Miss Agnes Neudorff, after three years of study under one of the best vocal teachers in New York City, Herbert Witherspoon, is coming home to St. Joseph, to give a concert at the Lyceum Theatre the night of June 24. Miss Neudorff is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Neudorff. She is a soprano, and her instructor believes that with one more year of training she will be ready for the field of grand opera.

With Miss Neudorff will come Francis Moore, considered one of the best vocal coaches in the United States, as the accompanist. Moore is making the trip from New York especially to play Miss Neudorff's accompaniment, and it is certain he regards the singer's capabilities highly, else he would not make the trip, it is said.

Witherspoon, Miss Neudorff's instructor, was for many years a baritone with the Metropolitan Grand Opera company, and has praised the St. Joseph girl's singing. He has not permitted her to appear on the concert platform yet, and has refused permission for her to accept engagements in light opera.

Miss Neudorff is said to possess a wonderful soprano voice, and has been praised highly by musical critics in New York. Before she left for the metropolis she sang in the choir of the First Baptist church here. She was a pupil of Mrs. L. O. Weakley.

Miss Neudorff, on the advice of her instructor, has turned down several offers, one for $5,000 for a season in light opera. Witherspoon insists Miss Neudorff's proper sphere is grand opera.

Miss Neudorff despite an opportunity to make her initial appearance elsewhere, has chosen to make her debut before her home city, St. Joseph. Her program, by request, will consist mostly of old favorites.

The greatest appeal in her voice, according to her instructors, is a rare emotional quality, which is far out of the ordinary, according to Witherspoon, and will carry the St. Joseph singer far.

Mr. and Mrs. Witherspoon are contemplating a trip to Europe within the next two years by which time Miss Neudorff, in Witherspoon's opinion, will be ready for her debut. If it can be arranged, Miss Neudorff will accompany the Witherspools, and make her debut on the continent.—St. Joseph Gazette.

Mr. Neudorff, father of Miss Agnes, is well known here, and often visits our little city, and takes great pride in the advancement and welfare of Oregon. Our music lovers should take advantage of this opportunity to hear a coming grand opera star.

The girls' Sunday school class, of which Miss Lou Petree is the teacher, had a very interesting meeting at her home, last Thursday afternoon.

The Ladies' Aid Society met at the home of the president, Mrs. Andrew Tochterman, Monday evening, for a business session.

Our Sunday school had an attendance of 100 last Sunday. Now, let's make our next goal 150 by the last of July. This can be done without invading the ranks of other Sunday schools.

The Missouri Wesleyan College quartet and pianist, of Cameron, were present last Sunday and sang several good selections at the morning service, and in the evening put on a popular program, which would have done credit to the best Lyceum and Chautauqua courses. A large audience was present on both occasions.

Of Eggs is very important, especially in hot weather.

First of all get rid of your roosters, you have no more use for them.

Second—Gather your eggs often.

Third—Keep your eggs in a cool place, and avoid dampness as much as possible.

Fourth—Keep your eggs in the shade while taking them to market. Make you a candler and candle your eggs at home. Lots of eggs that are sent back to you by the merchants, and will stand the candle test, can be used at home.
